Five and 20- Produce wines that are indicative of local flavor, and have done so by working closely with local growers and utilizing local grapes & fruits. We have taken this model to another level with our new location, where each phase will grow us towards a "Grain-to-glass" operation on our 80 acre property in Westfield, NY. This will be the first facility of its kind in the Great Lake's region. "Grain-to-glass" – What's that? It means that we have taken pains to plan farming & production in such a way that the agricultural products that we use to craft the beverage that will end up in your glass don't have to travel very far. Also makes whiskey.
